

The Wai Tri
Pages 2, 8

Sharemilkers stunned
Page 3

Royal gift list kept hush-hush
Page 22

THIS MORNING

$32m 'must be won'
A woman who came upon a fatal road accident on Saturday last week, the Lotto first division Powerball prize "must be won" draw is set to be held on Saturday. The prize will be split between the first and second division winners if there are no second division winners. The prize will go to the first division winner if there are no second division winners. Powerball or the win is $20.8 million. The prize is $20.8 million, with each of the two winners receiving $10.4 million each.

Partner found - dead
A woman who came upon a fatal road accident on Saturday last week yesterday discovered the dead man was her partner. Blair Thomas, 35, was driving on the road on Saturday with a right-turning car on Hobson street. The car was found by a police officer. Karl Bevan, of the police's search and rescue unit, said he did not know the man. He said the car was found on a road and examining the scene, the Wind in their sails: Dozens of South Island fliers and windsurfers competed in the Glenorchy to Pigeon Island race on Lake Wakatipu on Saturday.

Race no breeze

John Eeles is Queenstown

Dozens of South Island windsurfers and paragliders gathered on Lake Wakatipu at the weekend. The Glenorchy to Pigeon Island race, which was previously postponed because of bad weather, was held on Saturday. The race was held in favourable conditions with fresh breezes and blue skies on Saturday. The race was held in favourable conditions with fresh breezes and blue skies on Saturday.

Some competitors were forced to abort the race because of the above by support craft, she said. The race was held in favourable conditions with fresh breezes and blue skies on Saturday. The race was held in favourable conditions with fresh breezes and blue skies on Saturday.

Otago Daily Times • Monday, April 4, 2011

REGIONS

>Central Otago

Mediation over river issues

By LYNDIA VAN BEMTEN

Neil Watson

Parties involved in the fishery mediation in the Otago region are set to meet on Saturday. The mediation is between the Otago Regional Council and the Otago Environmental Court to decide on the future of the Otago River. The mediation is between the Otago Regional Council and the Otago Environmental Court to decide on the future of the Otago River.

>Lake Wakatipu

Blown home

By TIMACY ROXBURGH

The annual Big Queenstown Downwinder is set to be held on Saturday. The event is for kite and windsurfers. The event is for kite and windsurfers. The event is for kite and windsurfers. The event is for kite and windsurfers.

plans for better electric fishing on the river, has opposed the tribunal's recommendation. The tribunal's recommendation was to allow the river's wild and scenic landscape and trout fishery values to be protected. The tribunal's recommendation was to allow the river's wild and scenic landscape and trout fishery values to be protected.

No date has been set for the matter to be heard in the Environment Court. The matter will be heard by the Environment Court.

Something in the air... Some of the 25 kites and windsurfers who competed in the annual Big Queenstown Downwinder start off from Glenorchy on Saturday.

Pulling power

A competitor in the 2011 Big Queenstown Downwinder in action on Lake Wakatipu between Glenorchy and Pigeon Island on Saturday. The event had been postponed several times due to bad weather, but it was worth the wait for the 25 kites and windsurfers who took part in the event, a memorial for Jude Green, who died in February 2008. Results, see page 4. GUY: GUY/GETTY IMAGES